Angelina Paris Asset Logic and Prompt System

This document defines the image and video direction for replacing the current Beano-style assets with visuals that feel aligned with Angelina Paris: refined patisserie, Belle Epoque salon culture, marble table service, warm chocolate, tea-room ritual, elegant gifting, and quiet Parisian luxury.

The goal is not to redesign the UI. The goal is to feed the existing sections with images that make the current layout feel intentional, premium, and brand-correct.

For the expanded artifact pack, start with `ANGELINA_ASSET_ARTIFACT_INDEX.md`.

Core Visual Thesis

Angelina should feel like:

- A white salon canvas warmed by chocolate, gold, cafe, and vieux rose accents.
- Real patisserie objects, not generic bakery stock.
- Paris tea-room ritual: marble, porcelain, silverware, whipped cream, tea tins, gift boxes, menus, mirrors, and upholstered seating.
- Elegant product photography with enough negative space for the existing UI.
- Premium but not cold: cream, pastry, chocolate, rose, and warm interior light.

Avoid:

- Rustic bakery flour-dust styling.
- Overly dark coffee-shop visuals.
- Generic croissants on kraft paper.
- Modern minimalist cafe scenes that could belong to any brand.
- Fake logos, fake packaging, or invented brand marks unless you have licensing/permission.
- Busy images behind text.

Palette Logic

Use the Angelina theme palette as the image grading target:

- Porcelain white / warm ivory backgrounds.
- Chocolate brown and espresso accents.
- Soft cafe au lait neutrals.
- Old peach, vieux rose, and blush details.
- Muted gilded brass, never bright yellow gold.
- Occasional deep burgundy or brown leather from salon interiors.

The image grading should stay soft and high-key. Shadows can be warm but should not dominate.

Prompt Formula

Use this structure for every generated image:

[specific subject] in [Angelina-style Paris tea-room or patisserie setting], on [surface/material], with [supporting props], [lighting], [composition], [color palette], [camera/lens], premium editorial patisserie photography, refined Belle Epoque Paris salon atmosphere, no visible logos, no readable text, no fake brand marks, no people unless specified

Universal negative prompt:

generic coffee shop, rustic bakery, kraft paper, messy crumbs, plastic packaging, modern neon cafe, dark moody bar, over-saturated colors, fake logo, misspelled text, readable label, cartoon, illustration, AI artifacts, distorted pastry, extra utensils, warped cup handle, messy table, hands with bad anatomy

Generation Specs

- Hero: generate at 2400x1350 or larger.
- Product cards: generate at 1600x1600 or larger.
- Feature images: generate at 1800x1350 or larger.
- Story/location images: generate at 2400x1350 or larger.
- Videos: 6-8 seconds, muted loop, 1920x1080, plus a poster frame.
- Export stills as WebP when possible, with JPEG fallback if needed.
- Keep important objects away from text overlays.
- Preserve clean edges for cards because current UI uses rounded image containers.
- Use consistent camera height across product cards so the collection grid feels intentional.

Image Selection Rules

Choose an image only if it passes these checks:

- It immediately reads as patisserie or Paris tea room.
- At least one Angelina-coded object is visible: Mont-Blanc, hot chocolate, whipped cream, macarons, tea tin, marble table, salon interior, gift box, or boutique shelf.
- The palette sits in ivory, chocolate, cafe, muted gold, blush, and vieux rose.
- It has enough quiet space for the current component layout.
- It does not look like a generic bakery, coffee roaster, or brunch cafe.
- It contains no fake readable text or distorted brand marks.

Implementation Notes For Later

When these assets are ready, replace only image/video source data in the current components. Do not change layout, spacing, typography, or section structure unless separately requested.

Suggested implementation approach:

1. Add final assets under `public/assets/angelina/` . 2. Update image data arrays and `src` values section by section. 3. Keep existing `alt` text meaningful and specific. 4. Use `next/image` for still images. 5. Use short muted autoplay loops only where the existing component already supports video. 6. Run the app and check desktop/mobile crops before finalizing.
